YOUR ATTENDANCE, SPONSORSHIP AND DONATIONS SUPPORT THE

CHICAGO SPORTS SUMMIT FOUNDATION

Proceeds from today's event will be donated to Girls in the Game, Chicago Run and Big Green, non-profit organizations that provide life-changing school year and summer opportunities to Chicago youth. We believe programs such as these will help keep our kids safe and ultimately impact some of the most challenging problems faced by our city. A portion of proceeds raised today will also be donated to Rush University Medical Center for the advancement of sports medicine research.

THANK YOU

2019

W E L C O M E

Welcome to the 4th Annual Chicago Sports Summit, an event we created to provide a platform to discuss topical issues in sports, sports business and sports science. In doing so, we discovered this was also an opportunity to raise money for two causes near and dear to our hearts: Chicago's youth and orthopedic sports medicine research. Needless to say, this event has become a labor of love and a highlight of our year.

Through the Chicago Sports Summit Foundation, a 501(c)(3), proceeds from today's event will benefit some of the finest organizations that support Chicago Public School kids. The first is Girls in the Game, where every young female can find her voice, discover her strength and lead with confidence through sports, health and leadership programs. The second recipient of today's Summit is Chicago Run, which promotes the health and wellness of Chicago kids through innovative, engaging, and sustainable running programs. The third organization we are proud to support is Big Green, which connects kids to real food through a network of Learning Gardens and food literacy programs.

Lastly, a portion of today's proceeds will fund sports medicine orthopedic research at Midwest Orthopedics at Rush and Rush University Medical Center. Our orthopedic program is ranked among the top ten in the nation, largely due to its advances in technology and basic science research.

Please consider making a donation to the Chicago Sports Summit Foundation by using the envelope in this program or by bidding on exclusive sports experiences and memorabilia online or at the silent auction table. Volunteers are available to make it easy for you.

Finally, I would like to sincerely thank the physicians of Midwest Orthopaedics at Rush, today's speakers, panelists, moderators and emcees. You make this event interesting and exciting. I also want to express appreciation to our steadfast Presenting Sponsor Athletico, our loyal Partner Sponsor Optimum Nutrition, our Friend Sponsor Leopardo, as well as the other generous sponsors listed in this program.

Enjoy the 4th annual Chicago Sports Summit!

Sincerely,

Brian Cole, MD, MBA

CLOSING REMARKS

Brian Cole, MD, MBA, Managing Partner, Midwest Orthopaedics at Rush

PANELISTS

James R. Andrews, MD, Orthopedic Surgeon

Dr. Andrews is one of the founding members of Andrews Sports Medicine and Orthopaedic Center in Birmingham, AL and the Andrews Institute in Gulf Breeze, FL. He is also a co-founder of the American Sports Medicine Institute and The Andrews Research and Education Foundation, non-profit institutes dedicated to injury prevention, education and research. Dr. Andrews is known and recognized for his skills as an orthopedic surgeon and his scientific and clinical research contributions in knee, shoulder and elbow injury prevention and treatment. He serves as Medical Director and Orthopaedic Surgeon for Auburn University and Senior Orthopedic Consultant at the University of Alabama.

Mark Bartelstein, CEO, Priority Sports and Entertainment

Bartelstein established Priority Sports & Entertainment in 1985. As CEO, he has earned a reputation for innovation in his approach to representing professional athletes. Bartelstein has helped his clients secure many landmark contracts and is often asked to speak on his experience in these negotiations, as well as the journey that Priority

Sports has taken to the top of its industry. Bartelstein graduated from the University of Illinois with a Bachelor's in business administration and earned an MBA from Northwestern University's Kellogg School of Management.

Emmett Cleary, Former NFL player

Cleary played for a variety of NFL teams, including the New York Giants, Dallas Cowboys, and the Detroit Lions over a five-year professional career. He is now a second-year medical student at the Keck School of Medicine at the University of Southern California.

He grew up in Arlington Heights, IL and attended Boston College where he earned a Bachelor's in biology and played football as an offensive tackle, serving as team captain and earning all-ACC honors. His research interests include CTE, orthopedics, and the impact of social and professional factors on athletes' health.

Jonathan Coyne, VP of Sales Operations, Glanbia Performance Nutrition

Glanbia Performance Nutrition is a $1.4 billion manufacturer of the largest sports nutrition brands: ON (Optimum Nutrition), BSN (Bio-Engineered Supplements and Nutrition), ABB (American Body Building), Isopure Nutrition, Nutramino, Slim-Fast, Amazing Grass,

Think! and Body and Fit. Coyne has spent 18 years in the sports nutrition industry, including positions at GNC and Iovate Health Sciences. He leads Glanbia's product planning and execution and works with major retailers such as Wal-Mart, Kroger, 7-11 and Amazon. He was part of the team behind the development of the Optimum Nutrition Fit-40 range of supplements. Jon is an athlete and coaches youth football in the Batavia Youth Football league.

Ian Epstein, Founder, PropSwap

In 2015, Epstein started PropSwap, the first secondary marketplace to buy and sell sports bets. The online platform allows sellers to cash-in early on their bets that have increased in value, while providing buyers with better odds than what they would find in the casino. Prior to PropSwap, Epstein was an oddsmaker and data analyst for Cantor Gaming, the largest sportsbook operator in NV at the time. Epstein graduated from the University of Arizona with a degree in business management and originally hails from Evanston, IL.

Joe Flanagan, Owner/CEO, BTI Sports

Flanagan is the Owner & CEO of BTI Sports, a full-service NFL sports agency founded in 1998. He has advised over 200 NFL players and secured over one billion in contracts. He is involved in all aspects of client representation, including contract negotiation, marketing, endorsements and communication with NFL decision-makers. He is a Certified NFLPA Contract Advisor and member of the Illinois Bar. He earned his JD from DePaul University and his Bachelor's from the University of Notre Dame.

Napoleon Harris, Former NFL Player, Illinois Senator

Senator Harris serves the 15th District in Illinois. Prior to his time in office, Harris was a professional NFL player for the Oakland Raiders, the Minnesota Vikings and the Kansas City Chiefs. Senator Harris' general focus during his first and second sessions was improving education and the local business climate, improving neighborhoods and bringing jobs to the 15th Senate District. He believes that keeping kids in school is essential to future success for Illinois and has supported legislation legalizing sports betting in Illinois.

Frank Ignatius, President and Founder, USA Sports Gaming

Ignatius is the President and Founder of USA Sports Gaming which operate the brands BetChicago and BetIndiana. USA Sports Gaming is one of the first homegrown American sports betting operators in the country and it is poised to enter several states shortly. Ignatius started the business in early 2018 and has built it into one of the most successful sports betting start-ups in the industry.

PANELISTS

Jeff Kearney, Global Head of Sports Marketing, Gatorade

Kearney oversees the group that manages the brand's team, event and athlete partnerships, and negotiations around the world. A 15-year veteran at Gatorade, Kearney has worked across many facets of the Gatorade marketing organization, including managing partnerships with key sports practitioners to overseeing the brand's youth sports platforms and leading brand efforts for product innovation. Before joining Gatorade, Kearney began his career in sports as an intern at the Big Ten Conference. He later became Assistant Director of Communications at Conference USA and previously held various posts at sports and event marketing agencies.

Nick Mangold, Former NFL and Pro Bowl Player

Mangold played in the NFL for 11 seasons, is a 7-time Pro Bowl and 3-time All-Pro player. He was selected by the New York Jets in the first round in the 2006 NFL Draft and was the only center selected in the first round. Off the field, he raises awareness and donates to Answer The Call, New York Police & Fire Widows' & Children's Benefit Fund and serves as the Jets' spokesman for Taste of the NFL to raise money to fight hunger in the New York metropolitan area.

Ryan Mertz, DPT, Athletico Physical Therapy

Mertz received his Doctor of Physical Therapy degree from Northwestern University and his undergraduate degree from the University of Michigan. He served as a physical therapist for the Chicago White Sox for two years and travelled with the Chicago Cubs as Head Physical Therapist for five years where he also helped drive performance and injury prevention in the minor league system. In addition to the pros, he's been involved with various Chicago and Detroit based youth baseball organizations.

Alan Nero, Managing Director, Octagon Baseball Division

Nero is the Managing Director of Octagon's Baseball Division, a leader in the sports management industry, representing over 3000 clients worldwide. In 2017 Octagon was voted "Top Sports Agency" by Sports Business Journal. The Sporting News voted Alan as the 6th Most Influential Behind-the-Scenes Person in its "Top 100 Most Powerful Figures in Sports." Street and Smith's Sports Business Journal recognized Alan as one of the "Top 20 Most Influential Agents in Sports." Although Alan is most known for his work as a sports agent, he takes more pride in developing winning relationships with people around the world.

PANELISTS

Jean Lenti Ponsetto, Director of Athletics, DePaul University

One of the nation's most widely respected leaders in intercollegiate athletics and a driving force behind the continuing expansion and development of the DePaul athletics program, Ponsetto is in her 18th year as DePaul's Director of Athletics. Under her leadership, DePaul's athletics revenues have tripled. She has fundraised more revenue than all her predecessors combined while endowing 50 new athletics scholarships across all sports. At the helm of the department, 14 of the 15 Blue Demon athletic programs have represented the school in NCAA championships and more than 1,300 Blue Demon student-athletes have been named to conference academic honor rolls.
